

Phi Lambda Sigma The Pharmacy

Leadership Society University of Houston
College of Pharmacy
4849 Calhoun Rd., # 3046, Houston, TX 77204

Applications for membership in Phi Lambda Sigma are now being accepted. Phi Lambda Sigma is a nationally recognized Honor Society that promotes leadership within the profession of pharmacy.

The purpose of Phi Lambda Sigma, the National Pharmacy Leadership Society, is to promote the development of leadership qualities in pharmacy, especially among pharmacy students. The Society encourages participation in all pharmacy activities as membership crosses fraternal and organizational lines. Phi Lambda Sigma is complimentary to the Rho Chi Society in that it recognizes leadership ability, while Rho Chi recognizes scholastic achievement.

Members are selected by peer recognition. Such recognition serves to instill self-confidence and to promote greater efforts toward the advancement of pharmacy. Membership in Phi Lambda Sigma consists of four categories: students, faculty, alumni, and honorary. Nomination for membership comes from the existing members of the Society. Prospective members are nominated based on the demonstration of dedication, service, and leadership in the advancement of pharmacy. Because Phi Lambda Sigma is an Honor Society, its members are individually recognized at graduation and wear honor cords on their graduation gowns. Phi Lambda Sigma is recognized at various activities throughout Texas & the United States, including the APhA and TPA conventions.

If you feel that you display leadership qualities through your involvement in pharmacy school, we strongly encourage you to apply.
